

For Release: October 1, 2017
Media Contact: Rose Solari
info@alansquirepublishing.com
301-530-2896

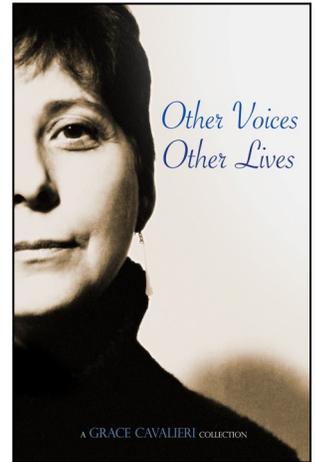

“The poet Grace Cavalieri is also a truly generous friend of poetry and poets. In her writing and all she does her large-minded generosity shines. It's a blessing to American poetry that this radiant, giving spirit, with her appropriate first name, is there in our capital city: a light amid fog.”

—Robert Pinsky, former U.S. Poet Laureate, author of At the Foundling Hospital and Singing School

“Poetry, drama, the interview—Grace Cavalieri has mastered all of these forms with intelligence, imagination, and a gift for language. ‘Each of us has a pond. Mine is deep,’ she writes in one of her poems, and she could be speaking of this impressive and necessary collection.

—Linda Pastan, author of Insomnia and Traveling Light

Other Voices, Other Lives: A Grace Cavalieri Collection (Alan Squire Publishing, October 2017, 978-1942892069) is a selection of poems, plays, and interviews drawn from over forty years of work by one of America's most beloved and influential women of letters. The author of 23 books of poetry and 26 produced plays, and the founder of the legendary radio interview program, The Poet and the Poem, Grace Cavalieri has won multiple national awards for her writing and her service to literature.

From the Editor's Introduction:

“Though Grace's poems brim with tenderness, they are never sentimental. Love, in her work, is both magic and effort, Cupid's fleet arrow and Penelope's patient weaving.” — Rose Solari

In preparing this ASP Legacy volume, the author has worked closely with the editor, hand-picking some of her most beloved poems, plays, and interviews for inclusion here. Other Voices, Other Lives is an appropriate and necessary celebration of Cavalieri's accomplishments, and a testimony to the power and range of her work.

About the Author:

Grace Cavalieri's many awards include The George Garrett Award for Service to Literature from the Association of Writers and Writing Programs (AWP); two Allen Ginsburg Poetry Awards; the Paterson Award for Excellence in Literature; the Folger Shakespeare Library's inaugural Columbia Book Award for Service to Literature; and a Silver Medal from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

Cavalieri's interview series, “The Poet and the Poem,” now broadcast from the Library of Congress, celebrates its 40th year in 2017. Her papers are housed in the Gelman Library at George Washington University.

Other Voices, Other Lives: A Grace Cavalieri Collection by Grace Cavalieri

Edited, with an introduction, by Rose Solari

Publication Date October 1, 2017

Published by Alan Squire Publishing, an imprint of Santa Fe Writer's Project, Distributed by IPG

The Second Volume in the ASP Legacy Series

Poetry, Drama, & Interviews / 256 pages / Boutique Paper Edition / ISBN 978-1942892069

www.alansquirepublishing.com

Available at bookstores everywhere and through IPG

814 North Franklin, Chicago, IL 60610 / Orders 1-800-888-4741 / ipgbook.com

